Subject: New Colorado Certificate of Title

The State of Colorado, Motor Vehicle Division, has a new Colorado Certificate of Title. The new form was put into distribution on May 20, 2005.

The title has been changed to a letter-size (8 1/2-x 11 inch) document and allows six owners to be listed and four lien holders. Additional liens filed will be listed on page two of a Colorado Certificate of Title form. The buyer and seller assignments have moved on the back of the title so that the seller information comes first.

Listed below are the security features designed to make it difficult to copy or otherwise reproduce the document.

- Iridescent security tint background printing – rainbow tinting effect across the front of the document, showing a three color iridescent prismatic ink (blue-red-yellow-blue).
- Engraved border – high-resolution lithography, such engraving is difficult for a forger to reproduce with clarity.
- Erasure sensitive background inks – printed in permanent erasure sensitive, heat resistant ink. When attempting to erase data, background will disappear.
- Security paper – paper is created with an eagle watermark on the left side of the document (visible when held up to light). A security thread is embedded in the right side of the paper. This thread is imprinted with the words "certificate of title".
- Micro-printed line – a micro-printed line appears as a straight line to the naked eye, but under magnification it reveals special wording (State of Colorado) printed in very small type. This micro-line is located at the bottom of the document.
- Fluorescent control number – red consecutive number in lower right that fluoresces orange under ultraviolet light.
- Invisible fluorescent number - invisible consecutive number in upper left border that is visible only under ultraviolet light.

Additional security features may be added in the near future and a sample format will be forwarded as well. All previous versions of Colorado titles will continue to be acceptable.

If you have any questions regarding the new title format please contact Title and Registration at 303-205-5608.
